Course Requirements

Special Education Field-Experience Portfolio

All candidates are required to maintain a portfolio throughout the placement. It should be assembled so as to contain artifacts chosen to demonstrate candidate knowledge, performance, and dispositions in relation to the standards on the Pro-Ed Assessment. It is anticipated the portfolio will reflect the highest of professional standards. The Clinical Supervisors will periodically examine the portfolio throughout the experience. At the end of the course, artifacts will be placed in candidates' field-based experience files. Candidates should not anticipate these materials being returned to them. The portfolio must contain the following artifacts:

- Handbook/Syllabus (including end of program evaluation forms)
- Weekly Schedule
- 2 Observations with Completion of Observation Form
- 20 Lesson Activities
- Educational Philosophy Statement
- Completed Lesson Plans using the approved Form
- Lesson Observations (to be completed by the Clinical Supervisor)
- Student Code of Conduct & CEC Code of Ethics (This is located on the Mu Online Course site. Please print out and sign.)
- Diversity Module (The link Complete Module and include signed form)
- Reflection Journal (1 reflection per week and 2 reflections on the 2 Lessons prepared and taught over the course of the summer program)

Grading Policy:

Satisfactory completion of all course activities and requirements will result in successful completion of the field experience. In addition, candidates must receive a satisfactory rating on each of the standards on the Summative Evaluation, in order to earn an overall course grade of "S" satisfactory.

*Note: You need to include 2 of these with your Portfolio. You will teach these lessons and reflect upon them.

Why keep a reflection Journal?

“When students and teachers make use of reflection as a tool for learning and assessment, they are creating an opening that allows them to enter into students’ work, making sense of their endeavors and accomplishments, and learning how they judge their success.”

R. Zessoules & H. Gardner

Reflection is a thoughtful response to either preplanned or spontaneous but conscious decisions and actions. The reflective process asks you to focus continuously on questions such as “What am I doing?” “Why?” “How well are my students learning?” “How do I know?” (Cruikshank, 1987; Fellows & Zimpher, 1988; Valverde, 1982).

Beliefs about teaching and learning are built over a lifetime. Teachers who approach teaching reflectively often view themselves as problem solvers, even change agents. Meeting the challenges of diversity and change will require your talents and resourcefulness. There is a sense of movement to change and to innovation, and there is often a sense of excitement and/or apprehension in the way individuals greet it (Rust, 1993, p. 14). Continually collecting evidence about student learning, you will learn to make wise choices and decisions, to identify strengths and weaknesses of your instructional decisions, and to analyze ways to improve your teaching. If you are an effective teacher, you will never be satisfied with the status quo.

SAMPLE QUESTIONS TO ASK YOURSELF REGARDING YOUR TEACHING

- As I reflect on the lesson, to what extent were students productively or actively engaged?
- Did the students learn what I intended? Were my instructional goals met? How do I know, or how and when will I know?
- Did I alter my goals or instructional plan as I taught the lesson? Why?
- If I had the opportunity to teach this lesson again to this same student or group of students, what would I do differently? Why?
- What will be my next step?
- Why am I selecting these activities?
- How will I assess how well my students are learning?
- Why some students are still not engaged?
- What could I do differently to keep my students focused?
- What questions do I have about the lesson or my student(s)?

Remember: These questions are for your consideration and intended to merely guide your thoughts as you write your reflections in the log. It is not anticipated you will necessarily respond to every question each day. Use them as a guide only to get your thoughts flowing.

Prepare one paper copy with all signatures and forward to the Graduate Council Chair. Additionally, send one identical ELECTRONIC COPY with all supporting documentation as an e-mail attachment by to the Graduate Council Chair for electronic distribution to the Graduate Council Curriculum Committee.

Guidelines for an AMD Proposal

Accelerated Master's Degree Programs may be developed between an undergraduate and graduate program in a single department, between two programs in a single school/college or between programs in two different schools/colleges. AMD programs enrich the opportunities of the best undergraduates at Marshall University, enabling them to earn a Bachelor's and Master's degree in much less time than it would take following the traditional path. AMD students do not double count credits. They can take up to 12 graduate credits to be applied to the master's degree in place of 12 undergraduate elective credits. They will earn the undergraduate degree with up to 12 fewer credit hours, depending on how many graduate hours they take.

Rationale: The proposal should identify the rationale or need for an AMD, and, if the undergraduate and graduate programs are in different departments, clarify how they are appropriate for the AMD.

Rationale: The AMD in Health Informatics for Integrated Science and Technology students would allow exceptional MIS undergraduates who plan to pursue the Master of Science in Health Informatics (MS-HI) the opportunity to earn 12 graduate credits from coursework that is part of the MS-HI curriculum in place of 12 of the elective IST credits. The 12 graduate credits from the AMD would go toward the 39 hours of required course credits for the MS-HI Degree, contingent upon acceptance into the program. This AMD would also allow IST students to gain knowledge of a particular application area of information systems and technology.

Admission Requirements: The proposal should state whether admission requirements for the AMD differ from regular admission requirements (e.g. waive test scores).

Admission Requirements: Admission to the AMD program would require permission from the Health Informatics Program Director and the director of the IST program, and is contingent of successful completion of the first four semesters of the IST program with a GPA of 3.00 or greater. The GRE requirement will be waived for the AMD; however, if the AMD student plans to apply to the MS-HI program, the GRE will then be required.

AMD Credits: The proposal may allow an undergraduate student to earn a maximum of 12 credits in approved graduate courses to be applied to the master's degree. These 12 credits take the place of 12 undergraduate electives. Please note the maximum allowed credits.

AMD Credits: 12 credits

Curriculum: The proposal should show how a student can complete the Bachelor's degree by lowering the number of undergraduate credits (up to 12) with up to 12 graduate credits that will apply to the master's degree.

Curriculum: In place of some of the required IST credits, the following courses will be substituted with the following curriculum:

IST 332 -> replaced with EM660.....	3 hours
IST 333 -> replaced with MIS680.....	3 hours
MGT 320 -> replaced with HP605.....	3 hours
Technical Elective -> replaced with any of the other masters courses required in the HI master's program.....	3 hours

Student Eligibility: AMD applicants must have a minimum over-all grade point average of 3.30 and 3.30 in the major. Programs may require a higher GPA. Please note your required GPA.

Student Eligibility: Overall GPA of 3.00, and 3.00 in IST course work.
