SATISFACTORY PROGRESS & PARTICIPATION

- Attend a First Year Check-In appointment during your first semester in the Honors College and remain enrolled full-time in a bachelor's degree program at Marshall. Failure to do so will result in dismissal from the college.
- Complete at least 6 honors credits in your first academic year—waived credits do NOT count toward this total. It is best to earn 15-18 total honors credits in your first two years (e.g., via FYS 100H, HON 200, and most General Honors—which DOES include waived credits).
- Register for and successfully complete HON 200 by the spring of your 2nd year. In special circumstances, students may submit an Exception Request form to the Honors College Dean to take it in your 3rd year.

GOOD STANDING

- First-year students who achieve an overall GPA between 2.70 and 2.99 in their first semester will automatically be placed on Honors Academic Probation for up to two semesters. A 3.30 GPA is "Good Standing" (see below).
- Students must maintain an overall GPA of 3.30 or higher after their first semester. Students below this GPA will be given one semester of Honors College Probation. Those who return their GPA to 3.30 or higher at that semester's end will be reinstated to Good Standing in the Honors College. Failure to do so will result in dismissal from the college (which means loss of benefits).

GENERAL INFORMATION

Know Where to Go:

- Participating in the Honors College means you are a member of at least two different colleges at Marshall. Keep these things in mind when thinking about what that means for you:
 - The Honors College is not a "degree-granting" college. We add value to your degree earned in another college. The college that houses your primary major is responsible for your degree completion requirements, so general policy questions, course substitutions, etc., must be addressed by that college.
 - If you need a Dean's signature on a form, you will only need the Honors College Dean's signature if the form has to do with a course that begins with HON or you are asking for some sort of exception to an Honors College policy (e.g., H-Options, approval of a credit waiver for Study Abroad, etc.).
 - You have at least two different advisors. Your primary advisor is the Academic Advisor in your degree-granting college. You also have an Honors Advisor who will see you regarding completing the Honors College's required curriculum. For your degree-granting college's policy regarding a specific issue, you should see the Academic Advisor in your college to ensure you get accurate information.

DegreeWorks:

- Be sure to familiarize yourself with your DegreeWorks. A separate "block" (or section) of your DegreeWorks for your Honors College requirements exists. It will help you monitor what you have done and what you still need to do to complete your Honors College requirements. If you have questions about what you see in the Honors College section of your Degree Works, please let us know so we can follow up as needed. The academic advisor for your major college must NOT change the Honors College block.

Financial Assistance:

- Although when you were admitted to the Honors College, you were given the Honors College Scholarship, you must remain an active student in the Honors College to continue receiving it.
 - The Office of Student Financial Assistance handles all aspects of administering and renewing the scholarship. It is NOT possible to leave or be dismissed from the Honors College and remain eligible for the Honors College Scholarship. It IS possible to lose your Honors College Scholarship (e.g., through failure to take at least 30 total credits at MU in an academic year) and still be a member of the Honors College and receive all other benefits.
