

Invited Speaker

Dr. Carrie Diaz Eaton

Associate Professor of Digital and Computational Studies

Bates College

“Networks: Ecology, Facebook, and Interdisciplinary Teaching”

Tuesday, February 19, 2019 • Smith Hall 529 • 4:00pm

Abstract

Plants and pollinators share something interesting with websites and users – they can both be described as a bipartite, mutualistic network. I discuss how the way these networks form and evolve over time, and how that gives us insight into the structure we see, and the management decisions that we make. I also consider how we could use this understanding to advance interdisciplinary education research.